Statement of the City Coal & Transfer Company

There was released to the City Coal & Transfer Company by our railroad agent, during the late coal strike, a car of "mine-run" coal which was from the Fentress Coal Co., of Tennessee. When the coal was released we had no bill of rates or cost, either of the coal or the freight. Our Agent advised that we base our selling price on war time prices for "mine-run" coal F. O. B., which was $2.35 per ton, and the freight at double the rate to Hopkinsville, which was $1.50 per ton and war tax; and, by this estimate the freight was $3.00 plus the war tax, 9 cents, making $3.09 freight and war tax; but when the bill did come, and which we had to pay, it was $3.91 freight, including war tax.

We gave to the Railroad Agent, at his request, a certified check for the coal, for $110.04, which came in and was charged up to our banking account at Farmers Bank.

We have this check in our possession, with the various endorsements, and which shows it was given for this very same identical car of "mine run" coal. Nevertheless, the Fentress Coal Co., sends us another bill for this same car of coal, charging us $2.53 F. O. B., amounting to $119.54 more for the very same coal. But the Agent says we are sure to get back the amount of the check for $110.04, which we gave to the railroad company. But, at the present we are out for above coal, first check for coal to the railroad $110.04, and second check for same coal to the Fentress Coal Co., $119.54, and check for freight on this coal was $184.93, making the present amount out by us for this car of coal amount to a total of $414.51. We have only realized $295.00. We are, therefore, short $119.51 on above car as it now stands.

We have filed claim for overcharges, and if we ever get anything to make refunds to our patrons, we will certainly do so.

"DO NOT PRESUME TO SPEAK TO ME ANY MORE!"

Synopsis .- Hilary Askew, young American, comes into possession of the timber and other rights on a considerable section of wooded land in Quebecthe Rosny seignlory. Lamartine, his uncle's lawyer, tells him the property is of little value. He visits it, and finds Morris, the manager, away. From Lafe Connell, mill foreman, Askew learns his uncle has been systematically robbed.

Askew and Connell reach an understanding, and Askew realizes the extent of the fraud practiced on his uncle. Askew learns that Morris, while manager of his (Askew's) property, is associated with the Ste. Marie company, a rival cern, of which Edouard Brousseau is the owner. Hilary discharges Morris and makes Connell manager. Askew discovers a gang of Brousseau's men cutting timber on his property. After an altercation he is compelled to engage in a fistic battle with "Black Pierre," the leader, and whips him. He also clashes with Leblanc, his boss jobber.

But this picture would not hold Father Lucien. "But do not let this together; she was most evidently acquainted with Brousseau's designs, and approved of them.

On the day after the interview with Leblanc a new development occurred. Lafe, who had been grumbling all day, came into the office and flung down his hat in utter dejection.

"Something new?" asked Hilary, "There's talk of a strike," said Lafe in disgust, "Brousseau has had his men at work among 'em, and they're saying that you're keeping wages down, and that Brousseau would give two follars a day if you would."

"We'll face that trouble when it de velops," answered Hilary.

But Hilary did some hard thinking, and it settled about Dupont. If Brousseau could buy out Dupont he was finished; he could never get a lumber schooner that year, and he must get out some shipments before navigation closed. He decided to appeal to Father Lucien to help him out in this

"Ask him if he is willing to accept his orders from me," said Hilary.

The cure translated, and the captain answered him, stroking his gray beard and speaking with slow emphasis. "It is all right," said Father Lucien Father Lucien stopped and thumped finally. "Captain Dupont takes his Hilary said. When he was with Father Lucien upon their homeward way he asked They stopped and shook hands upon him a question about a matter that had puzzled him.

"Why does Dupont look at me as if I were his mortal enemy?" he asked. "Ah, Monsieur Askew," said the cure, stopping to thump his stick upon the shingle, "there is a story there. So he looks at every man when first he meets him. He fears for the girl Marie-and unfortunately he is right in his fears. For she has her mother's nature.

"It was many years ago, nearly twenty, I think, and before I came here, when Capt, Jules Dupont was a fisherman in St. Boniface. He was married to Marie Letellier, who was much younger than he, and gay and thoughtless. People said it was an illmade match; but she loved him, and they were happy.

"When he left his young bride to go sealing off Newfoundland the tongues wagged, but he trusted her, and when It was a girl of about four and he returned there was the child Marie, and a warm welcome. So three years passed.

"When Jules Dupont returned the fourth year his wife was gone. With whom? Nobody knew. I know more than anyone in St. Boniface, but I never knew. Some wanderer from the south shore; and six months later she was back with the child, pleading for forgiveness. He sheltered her until her death soon afterward. Since then his fear has been that Marie will have inherited the mother's nature. He never makes a voyage but he returns in fear and haste. Marie. and I have fears that some one is using her as a tool to get the girl Marie Dupont into his clutches, But what can I do save watch and wait?

"Therefore, Monsieur Askew," tinued Father Lucien, much agitated, I implore you to prevent this evi from spreading to St. Boniface. It is Brousseau who debauches those poor people there. It is he who is responsible for all this evil. He cares nothing for the people, so long as he wields their votes for his creature in the parliament at Quebec. And this, monsieur, was chiefly the cause of my visit to you tonight, to urge you to keep the brandy and the dance halls out of St. Boniface, for I hear it being said that one of the Duvals boasts he will open a dance hall there."

"No brandy shall be sold on the St. Boniface property, Father Lucien."

Hilary slept poorly that night. Trouole seemed to be thickening about him. Had he, indeed, the power to handle these wild people whose very tongue he could hardly understand?

Then, out of the darkness, there ose, in vivid portrayal, the face of Madeleine Rosny. He admitted now how much she meant to him, enough to make any venture worth the while. He thought of their last meeting; and in spite of it he dared to dream of a happier one to come.

Simeon Duval's placé was working full blast, as were half a dozen more, and Hilary recognized numbers of his own men en route. Nobody appeared to notice them, however, and they reached Simeon's place unaccosted, and, standing upon the porch beside the loor, looked in.

It was a large wooden building, within which a score of lumbermen were dancing, mostly with one another; but a few had women partners. There was no pretense of secrecy in respect of the sale of liquor. Simeon Duval, whom Lafe indicated to Hilary, was a stoutish, middle-aged man in shirtsleeves, with pale blue eyes and a thin crop of reddish hair, turning gray. #### Ants That Plant.

A species of ants living on the semiarid plains of Texas cultivate areas of grass about their dwellings. On the cultivated space, which may have au area of ten to fifteen feet, only one kind of grass is allowed to grow, and it is said that the seeds of this grass are planted by the ants. Roads are laid out regularly, radiating from the hill across the plain, and the shoots of undesirable plants are promptly nibbled off as fast as they appear among the crops. When the harvest of the protected grass is ripe the ante collect the seeds and convey them along a radiating highway to the little rooms in their hills. Interesting and wonderful is the economy of these tiny insects. They may, when the colonles are large and numerous enough, do considerable damage to grain in fields where their mounds are reared and the clearings made.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION MEETS

The bi-monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers association was held at the school house on Friday afternoon, Jan. 9th. Even though the weather was inclement there was a good crowd present. A short gram was rendered by the first grade followed by a most interesting and enlightening lecture by Mrs. Gordon. Her subject was "Why, What and How of the P. T. A." and when she had finished her entire audience felt like turning militant, going forth and demanding, not women's but children's rights. A motion was made by Rev. Gordon and seconded, that a $15 prize be offered for the best competitive essay on "The History of the Fly." Only High School pupils are eligible to enter this contest.

Ways and means for increasing the school library were discussed as well as other plans for bettering school conditions. A piano duet by Misses Pauline Blackwell and Mary Louis Truitt was another enjoyable feature of the program. The next meeting of the P. T. A. will be held on Friday afternoon Jan. 23 at the school house. A cordial invitation is extended to every one.

RIVER WILL CLEAN ITSELF.

Mississippi river will keep its own mouth clean of mud and silt and sand, so that ships can pass in and out and 100 miles up the river to New Orleans.

This has been achieved by merely narrowing the channel inside the jetties by means of timber breakwaters to 1,000 feet, with a mean depth of 35 feet, and then directing the main current of the Mississippi through this narrowed channel. Only one dredge will be required now for soundings and records, whereas three or four dredges were employed before to keep the channel clear. Now the current of the Mississippi scours its own bed.

A Story of Sickness and Suffering with Final Return to It will do you good to read ft

No matter how long nor how much you have suffered, do not give up hope. Do not decide there is no help for you. There is. Make up your mind to get well. You can. There is a remedy in which you may place full reliance as did Mrs. Rozalia Kania of 39 Silver Street, New Britain, Conn. This is what she says: "I had cramps for three years and thought I would never be any better. I could not eat without distress. Slept with my mouth open and could hardly breathe. No medicine helped me. I had catarrh of the stomach. Now I have no cramps and am feeling well and healthy. I wish every suffering person would take PE-RU-NA."

Catarrh effects the mucous membranes any organ or part. PE-RU-NA, by regulating the digestion and aiding elimination, sends a rich, pure supply and nourishment to the sick and inflamed membranes and health

For coughs, colds, catarrh and catarrhal conditions generally, PE-RU-NA is recommended. If you are sick, do not wait and suffer. The sooner you begin using Dr. Hartman's well-known PE-RU-NA, the sooner you may expect to be well and strong and in full possess of your health. A bottle of PE-RU-NA is the finest emergency, ready-to-take remedy to have in the house. It is fourteen ounces of prevention and protection
